

BID Businesses giving back

16th March 2018: BID businesses often tell the Northampton town centre Business Improvement District (BID) team about charitable initiatives and how they are giving back to the town centre community - providing food or blankets to homeless people, volunteering on projects to help the environment and running various fundraisers throughout the year.

Town centre businesses can email the BID with details of any initiatives planned so the BID team can talk about them with other businesses and also feature them on social media.
